Helping you restore body movement
after an injury or illness

You're in control

It's important that you find the right product. To help you do this, the Financial Conduct Authority, has made it a requirement for every insurer to produce an Insurance Product Information Document (IPID) for certain products – private medical insurance (PMI) being one of them. An IPID provides a short summary of the key product information, in a standardised format, to make it easier for you to compare similar products from across the market and to help you make an informed decision.

While your IPID provides a short summary, the terms and conditions expand on this and provide full product details, including the benefits and exclusions. These documents should be read together with this sales brochure. If you don't have a copy of any of these documents, please go to aviva.co.uk/health/health-products/physio-essentials

Why suffer with aches and pains every day?

Aches and pains in muscles and joints can affect anyone and unfortunately are quite common. If you suffer with everyday aches and pains, we understand it can be both frustrating and upsetting. Physio Essentials has been designed to support, guide and help you restore body movement after an injury or illness. It can only be purchased online, which means you won't pay for advisers or call centres. And unlike full PMI, it doesn't cover any other medical conditions, so it costs a lot less.

Physiotherapy

The goals of physiotherapy treatment are to achieve a good level of improvement in your symptoms and to try to return you to your everyday activities, as they were before your injury or the onset of your symptoms.

This may not mean 100% recovery, and the best outcome may only be achieved after a period of self-management, using the advice and exercises provided by your physiotherapist.

The aim of the policy is to enable you to reach a level of recovery where you can be comfortable and confident to carry on with your self-management programme.

How to make a claim

You can make a claim online through the Physio Essentials portal.

We'll need to know:

- the area of the body affected
- the date when you first experienced symptoms.

We'll review your claim and, if you haven't used all of your telephone clinical assessments for the policy year, we'll provide you with access to our online booking portal to arrange your assessment.

A telephone clinical assessment (TCA) is a consultation with a fully qualified physiotherapist from the physiotherapy provider. This can also be arranged as a video call, where you can discuss your condition face-to-face, which could help your physiotherapist assess your condition. They'll review your musculoskeletal problem and recommend the most appropriate course of treatment, which could include virtual or face to face physiotherapy.

Each TCA call can only cover one condition or set of symptoms. If you need to discuss musculoskeletal symptoms affecting different parts of your body, for example your knee and your elbow, you'll need to book a separate TCA for each condition or set of symptoms.

• Virtual physiotherapy

The physiotherapist will create a personalised online programme for you to follow. It will include specific exercises, with clear videos demonstrating what you're required to do, to help support and manage your condition as part of a tailored home exercise programme. This will all be available to you via the physiotherapy provider's online portal. They'll also arrange follow up calls to check on your progress.

• Face-to-face physiotherapy

If, in the course of the TCA, the physiotherapist considers that it's clinically appropriate for you to have face-to-face physiotherapy they will arrange for you to see a physiotherapist from the IPRS Health network local to you. You'll then have a face-to-face assessment with that physiotherapist who'll determine what's required to treat your condition.

In the course of the TCA, or in a face-to-face assessment, the physiotherapist may decide that your condition can't be managed by either virtual or face-to-face physiotherapy. If so, they'll provide you with details of their assessment which you can take to your GP, who may then arrange for you to see a specialist.

You can look at the general online information regarding back, neck, muscle or joint health, at any time on the Physio Essentials portal.
