Important information about your policy

Excess
The excess will be applied to each individual claim for vet fees made under this policy. If we make multiple payments for the same illness or injury this excess will be applied to the first payment we make in each period of insurance.

Pets aged 7 years and over
If your pet is aged 7 years or over we will pay a maximum of 85% of each claim for vet fees, the remaining 15% contribution must be paid by you; this is in addition to any excess that may apply. We will always make a deduction for the excess before calculating the contribution.

For example
You submit a claim for £500. We make a deduction of £75 for the excess which leaves £425 balance remaining.
We will pay 85% (£361.25) towards the claim; the remainder (£138.75) is the excess plus your 15% contribution which must be paid by you.

If your pet reaches 7 years of age part way through the period of insurance, your contribution will be applied from the start of the next period of insurance where your schedule shows your pet to be 7 years old.

Period of insurance
This policy is an annual contract between you and us. At the end of each period of insurance we may offer to renew this contract for a further year. If we decide not to offer you a renewal we will write to you at least 30 days before the end of the current period of insurance. We are under no obligation to renew your policy.

Changing your cover
In the event that you wish to change your cover from one Aviva Pet Insurance product to another, for example moving from Gold to Platinum, or vice-versa, your original policy will be cancelled and a new policy set up; the replacement policy will be considered to be new contract and therefore any illness or injury that occurred prior to the start of the replacement cover will be considered as a pre-existing condition and excluded from cover.

How does the illness and injury cover work?

This diagram and the explanation below help to illustrate how the illness and injury cover operates:

1. Michelle has just brought home her new two year old dog Ruby and decides that she needs to take out Pet Insurance so she calls Aviva. The advisor she speaks to asks whether Ruby has any pre-existing conditions and she confirms that Ruby suffered from kennel cough which has now been treated and she has been vaccinated. The advisor explains that any future claims for kennel cough will be excluded from cover.

2. Michelle’s policy starts on the 15th of May.

3. On the 23rd of May Michelle takes Ruby to the vet as Ruby had been sick during the night. The vet checks her and tells her that it could be something she ate and it should resolve itself, but takes some blood samples and presents Michelle with a bill for £100 and explains that if anything shows up Ruby may need further treatment.

Michelle contacts the Aviva Claims team to notify them of the illness. The claims advisor explains that any illness which develops in the first 10 days of cover is excluded so this claim would not be valid. Ruby makes a full recovery.
4. On the 21st June Michelle is walking Ruby through the woods, on the way back to the car Ruby steps on a broken bottle and cuts her paw. She is taken to the vet who removes the shard of glass then cleans, stitches and bandages the wound. All together the bill comes to £125. Michelle pays the bill and calls the Aviva claims team when she get home. The claim is accepted and Michelle receives a cheque for £50, which is the total bill less the £75 excess. If Ruby had been 7 years old or over, Michelle would also need to make a 15% contribution, so she would have received a cheque for £42.50 which is the total bill less the £75 excess and the 15% contribution (£7.50).

5. Towards the end of August Michelle notices that Ruby is drinking more than normal and is losing weight, so takes Ruby to the vet.

The vet takes a blood sample and keeps Ruby in overnight. Ruby is diagnosed with diabetes and prescribed insulin. The total bill for tests and treatment comes to £215 and Michelle is told that she will need to continue buying insulin every 3 months.

The vet agrees that Aviva can pay him direct and completes the claim form which is returned to Aviva.

The vet receives a cheque for £140 (£215 less £75 excess). Had Ruby been 7 years or older the payment would have been £119 as Michelle would also have to pay her 15% contribution.

Each quarter the vet bill comes to £120 for insulin and examinations, the vet receives a cheque for the full amount in November and February. No excess is deducted as this is applied only once per condition in each period of insurance.

If Ruby had been 7 years or older, each cheque would have been for £102 due to the 15% contribution which is applied to every payment made.

6. In April Michelle receives her renewal notice and decides to continue with cover. The new period of insurance starts from the 15th of May.

7. At the end of May, Ruby requires her insulin and a claim is submitted for £120. Because this is a new period of insurance a cheque is sent to the vet for £45 which includes a deduction for the excess, this is paid by Michelle direct to the vet.
